New Screen Magazine

No. 79. - One Reel

COUNTY JUDGE D. CORLEY of Dallas, Texas, although without hands, is nevertheless an example of a really happy man. He manages to drive his own automobile, writes legibly and eats with a knife and fork. Not content with helping himself, he has made inventions that have helped the wounded soldiers of United States and Europe.

Hereward Carrington continues his exposes of the tricks of mediums, showing the slate writing trick and others.

Liquid air, registering three hundred and ten degrees below zero, can produce some strange experiments. The experiments are dangerous because of the terrific freezing power and the force created by the liquid's rapid expansion. A little of this liquid air is guaranteed to reduce the temperature of the hottest room.

A flower that sleeps is the California poppy, which folds and unfolds with the rising and the sinking of the sun. It is one of the beautiful flowers of the west coast of this country.

There are a number of wise "cracks" in this issue of the magazine, coming under the title head of 'With the Wise Birds.'
